If you are looking for short term assistance for application development or an Inspire upgrade project, the Inspire Mentorship Program is designed for you. Combining an on-site workshop with remote access to seasoned professional consultants, the Inspire Mentorship Program gives you the support you need to tackle your next Inspire project with confidence and comes in three different packages – Complex Application Development, Regular Application Development and Inspire Upgrade.

Regular Application Development

Are you currently working on a less advanced application that does not involve complex documents, compound forms or advanced automation and need guidance and best practice confirmation? The Regular Application Development project is right for you. Designed to provide similar level support as the Complex offering, the regular application development gives you access to a Quadient Senior Consultant to lean on and learn from while working on your next project. The Regular Application Development mentoring program provides the following:

3 day on site workshop:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ✓ Collaborative project review (goals, requirements, design) ✓ Engagement planning (align on mentoring topics and cadence) ✓ Joint development/mentoring
